Why Virtual Events

Much of today's work can be done remotely and companies need an effective way to deliver important communications to their workforce through online platforms. Virtual Meetings allow CEO's to deliver quarterly updates, C-level executives can roll out initiatives and sales teams can deliver timely information to clients.

Virtual Product Demos for Clients

Remotely deliver new Product Demo's to customers and clients in real time. You don't have to travel to an event to deliver your product updates and new technology. You can connect with potential new customers and existing clients in a timely manner with Virtual Meetings.

Where to Host a Virtual Event

GocastLIVE Virtual Events can be set up and produced anywhere. At an office, in a conference room, in your home, in a rented space or at an event. Look at the picture to the left to see a “before” picture of an office conference room.

Set Design & Set Technology

On the right you can see how the conference room above turned into a high-tech Virtual Set. We can help you design your Virtual Set or enhance your set with lighting and props. Gocast also has great experience in digital signage for your set.

One on One interview's

Interview Industry professionals, talk with content experts, ask CTO's how their technology is changing the digital landscape and discuss relevant corporate communications with your workforce.

Tech Talks

Set up a Live Stream Tech Talk so content specialists can deliver new and innovative ideas and strategies. Let CEO's deliver quarterly messaging to onsite employees your worldwide workforce and your customers.
